LEWIS ABSENT AS GOVERNMENT REOPENS MINE WAGE PACT

RED ARMY IN NORTH CHINA SURROUNDED

Government Forces, Increasing Tempo of Civil War, Within 33 Miles of Dairen

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS

BY TOM MASTERSON

Peiping, Nov. 1.—(P)—Chinese government armies, increasing the tempo and range of their civil war, rushed vanguards to within 33 miles of Dairen today, encircled 100,000 fiercely fighting Communists in Chefoo, and engaged their countrymen in half a dozen other sectors.

The pro-government Jih Pao said vanguards reached Pulantien, only 33 miles north of Dairen on the border between Manchuria and Kwangtung peninsula. Their objective is to cut off the Liaoting peninsula from the Manchurian mainland. The Nationalists have driven south down the Mukden-Dairen railway.

Government sources previously said Gen. Tu Li-shing's troops, fresh from capturing Antung, would not menace Dairen itself, but would establish a 30-mile safety zone around that Russian-occupied open port.

There were these other developments:

Nationalists striking at Chefoo and the Shantung peninsula to cut off the Reds' Yellow Sea route to Manchuria approached the suburbs of Yehshien, one of the four largest ports on the northern coast, and engaged Chinese Red forces in two others.

The air force, using American planes and bombs, was attempting to halt Communist reinforcements, slipping to Shantung peninsula from Manchuria in Junkies.

Government and Communist troops engaged in an hour's clash near the famous Marco Polo bridge, five miles west of Peiping. "Strong national forces" opened an offensive against Communists in the Shantung sector on the Shantung-Shensi province border. A majority of the Reds recently driven from Kalgan led to Yuhshien in the Wutai mountain foothills.

Fighting was reported west of Hwaihai and Cholu on the Peiping-Suiyuan railroad.

The government's 58th Army moved into the Peiping-Hankow rail sector and the revitalized national counter-attacks, recapturing Kucheng, 21 miles north of Peiping, and Tsaochi, only seven miles north of Peiping.

In northern Shensi province, the Communists were indicted with capturing most of Yulin's outer defenses and with having virtually surrounded the city.

Drive to Avert Armaments Race Holds Spotlight In UN Council

Government Hands Most Of Price Control Back To People

Washington, Nov. 1.—(P)—Price controls were lifted from nearly 100 more items today as OPA took on the appearance of a skeleton left over from Halloween.

The new list included paper and wood matches, milking machines and other dairy equipment, some lighting fixtures, a few lumber items and a long line of industrial products.

It was issued as the price agency took sweeping action toward decontrolling itself along with the national economy. Notice was served on approximately 10,000 OPA field workers—roughly one-third of the remaining staff—that their jobs will fold up in 30 days.

Even more immediately, OPA ordered its last local price boards, 1,642 of them, locked up for good on Monday.

Today's decontrol announcement said "because their supply is in approximate balance with demand, or because they are unimportant in business or living costs."

Farm dairy machinery freed from controls included churns, ice-refrigerated milk coolers and milk and cream separators.

Other machinery items released included certain gasoline and Diesel engines and some pumps.

The lighting equipment on the list included incandescent fixtures for industrial and commercial use, except fluorescent fixtures.

Among lumber items decontrolled were redwood lumber used for cigar boxes, walnut lumber and walnut gunstock blanks.

Metal products on the list were fluid milk shipping containers and wire reinforcing for use in concrete. School and passenger bus bodies and parties also went on the free list.

Agency officials said the twin moves will save $10,000,000 in salaries, rentals and other expenses that otherwise would have run on until OPA itself died by law next July 30.

OPA Chief Paul Porter in announcing the retrenchment program on the heels of scores of decontrol actions declared that "the government is handing most of the price control job back to American citizens."

"If citizens work as their neighbors worked on local boards," he added, "we can prevent disastrous inflation during this period when production of goods is steadily increasing to supply unfilled demands."

The bureau of labor statistics reported meanwhile that wholesale food prices dropped an average of 3.2 percent in the week ended last Saturday compared with the previous week—chiefly because of buyer resistance to high prices of meat, butter and lard.

However, the food index was still 49.8 percent higher than on June 30, when OPA controls were temporarily suspended, and 60.3 percent above the corresponding week last year.

Porter had planned to announce the closing of local boards and dismissal of their paid clerks at noon today, but leaks in the field forced the announcement late yesterday.

At the wartime peak of 1945, there were 5,661 local price and ration boards with 128,000 members and 110,000 additional volunteer workers.

With the 10,000 reduction in personnel, OPA's staff will drop to about 24,000 persons, with many of these slated for dismissal as decontrol continues.

BUSINESS INDEX
Pittsburgh, Nov. 1.—(P)—Business in the Pittsburgh district made a rapid recovery last week from the 27-day long power strike, the University of Pittsburgh reported last night. The index stood at 189.9 percent of the 1935-36 average, compared to 147.2 for the same week last year.

PUBLISHER'S ESTATE

BULLETINS

Pittsburgh, Nov. 1.—(P)—Approximately 500 miners walked out at the Duquesne Light Company's Harwick mine today in protest against a state ruling depriving them of a third week's jobless compensation for time lost during the 27-day power strike.

Tokyo, Nov. 1.—(P)—The prosecution told the international war crimes tribunal today the Japanese government knew of President Roosevelt's plan today in protest against a state ruling depriving them of a third week's jobless compensation for time lost during the 27-day power strike.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 1.—(P)—More than 28,000 suggestions for better and faster means of producing goods won $147,831 cash awards from Westinghouse employees during the past year, the company disclosed today.

W. L. Kettering, of Westinghouse's industrial relations department, said one out of every 13 employees participated in the contest. (Turn to Page Thirteen)

President Enroute Home To Vote Greeted St. Louis Crowd

By the Associated Press

President Truman, riding homeward to vote, greeted a station crowd at St. Louis from the rear platform of his train today as congressional campaigns drew breath for their last-minute week-end windup rallies.

The president had an opportunity to make appearances at Jefferson City and Sedalia as his train rolled across the Missouri plains, but no formal speeches were planned.

A Democratic rally prior to next Tuesday's elections was scheduled for his home town of Independence tonight, but Mr. Truman will not be there. He planned to spend the evening with his family while House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) makes the principal speech at the rally.

As local campaigns gathered heat in many parts of the country, national notes were sounded in behalf of the two major parties by Henry Wallace, former secretary of commerce, and Harold E. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, and Republican possibility for the 1948 presidential nomination.

Wallace, speaking last night in Madison, Wis., said much of the information about Russia comes from groups which he described as "reactionary." Wallace declared: "It seems to me we had better go a little slow before responding to war-mongering speeches of Republicans urging us to make Russia behave in eastern Europe."

Stassen said the Republicans have "a grave new responsibility" as a result of what he termed the failure of the Democratic administration in an address at Clarkburg, Va., last night he predicted the Republicans will win control of the house next Tuesday and possibly of the senate.

RESTRICTIONS ARE CLAMPED OVER HAIFA

Rigid Security Orders Are Issued As Refugees Are Transferred From Immigrant Ship

STAGE PROTEST STRIKE

By CARTER L. DAVIDSON

Jerusalem, Nov. 1.—(P)—Rigid security restrictions were clamped on all Haifa today as 1,200 Jewish refugees were transferred from a dangerously listing immigrant ship to two British vessels for deportation to Cyprus.

Two thousand Jews, leaving a Haifa mass meeting which protested further deportations, marched on British street barricades toward signs in Hebrew and English reading "Disperse Or We Fire." They dispersed after singing nationalist songs.

Meanwhile, the Palestine Arab army Futuwwah was summoned for a parade and mass meeting in Nablus, 33 miles north of Jerusalem, and some Arabs pictured this as a "show of strength."

Haifa's 60,000 Jews were idle from 8:30 to 11 a. m. in a general protest strike. They held a mass meeting on Hadar Hacarmel as the immigrant ship, apparently lashed to two minesweepers, appeared in the harbor.

The British army meanwhile counted a three-day toll of five soldiers' lives. Two were killed last night and two others were wounded critically near the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv when their truck hit a road mine.

The Inner Zionist Council and the Jewish National Council joined in denouncing methods of underground Jewish extremists. One of the underground groups, Euzon Ziv Lefumi, broadcast a declaration that it was prepared to fight both the British and any Jewish organization which attempted to interfere with it.

A general strike of all Palestine Jews was proclaimed for Sunday to protest the new deportations. The announcement came as police prepared security measures for tomorrow's scheduled Arab strike marking the anniversary of the Balfour declaration, which said Britain regarded with favor the establishment of a Jewish national home in the Holy Land.

All Jewish factories, shops and offices will be closed from noon to 6 p. m. Sunday while mass meetings and demonstrations are held in all Jewish towns, villages and settlements.

TWO HELD IN PROBE OF EMBASSY BOMBING
Rome, Nov. 1.—(P)—Carmine Bottino, chief of the political section of Rome's police, today identified one of the two persons held for questioning about the bombing of the British embassy yesterday as "a man of Polish origin," but declined to identify him further.

The other person held, Bottino said, was an Italian found seriously injured in the ruins after the early morning blast which ripped a hole in the block-long three-story embassy building and damaged one wing so badly that it may have to be pulled down. Thus far, Bottino added, investigation of the explosion has uncovered "nothing definite."

Charge Clerk With Embezzling Funds
Miami Beach, Fla., Nov. 1.—(P)—Forty-year-old William Arthur Nickel of Freeport, L. I., is being held in jail here for New York authorities who, assisting Chief of Detectives Charles Pierce reported, allege he embezzled $650,000 from the Mergenthaler Linotype Co.

Nickel, who was arrested last night on a telegraphic warrant from Chief Inspector Martin Brown of New York, agreed to waive extradition.

Pierce said Nickel told him he had worked for the company 20 years and was a bookkeeper and auditor, and that he arrived here Saturday. He earned $60 a week. When told that he was wanted for embezzlement of $650,000, Pierce said Nickel answered: "You're wrong; it was $750,000."

Ohio Bride Is Held In Death Of Husband
Steubenville, O., Nov. 1.—(P)—Phyllis Savage, a frightened, 17-year-old bride of four months who wanted to go to her parents' Canton home for a visit, goes instead to court today in connection with the fatal shooting of her husband.

Prosecutor James Berkowski said she would be arraigned before Judge E. M. Morrow on a charge still to be determined.

Late Wednesday night, Police Sgt. Walter Durbin reported, the young bride—clad in a nightgown and clutching a souvenir pistol her husband brought back from war—rushed into police headquarters and tearfully announced: "I just shot my husband! Here's the gun!"

Durbin said Mrs. Savage gave this account:

The couple had quarreled over her proposed trip to visit her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cordova of Canton. She bought a bus ticket Wednesday but missed the bus and returned home. The quarrel reopened, was patched up during a walk that night, and renewed again after the couple retired. Then Mrs. Savage drew the pistol from under her pillow and fired.

TWO SUFFOCATED IN HOME IN BRADDOCK
Pittsburgh, Nov. 1.—(P)—Trapped by fire in their four-room Braddock home, William Wilkacskas, 34, Braddock steelworker, and his 16-month old son, Ronald, were suffocated yesterday. Another son, Raymond, 6, was critically burned.

Firemen said a neighbor rescued a third son, Eugene, 4. The mother was absent at the time of the fire. Fire Chief John Morenzi and other firemen carried the father and two boys from the blazing structure.

Session Is Called In Answer To Demand By Workers To Discuss Contract and Change In Working Conditions and Pay

Washington, Nov. 1.—(P)—The government sat down to talk over new wage demands with John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers today as the private owners of the coal mines contended any new concessions to Lewis would be "a public disgrace."

Lewis sent a delegation headed by John O'Leary, vice president of the AFL-Mine Workers' Union, to represent him in conference with Federal Coal Mines Administrator N. H. Collisson. Lewis himself was absent when the meeting opened.

The session was called in answer to Lewis' demand for a reopening of a government mine contract to discuss new working conditions and wages.

As the meeting opened the Bituminous Coal Operators' negotiating committee issued a statement saying the government, in the view of the committee, has decided to reopen its contract with Lewis and that the decision had been made by "politically-minded men."

Neither side would comment on the progress of the morning sessions as they recessed until 2:30 p. m. (EST).

J. J. Ardigo of the Williamson Coal Mine Operators Association said at Williamson, W. Va., that 15 of the 42 mines in that area were forced to close down because of the failure of 4,000 miners to show up.

In line with Lewis' contention that the government has breached the agreement under which the government is running the federally seized mines, Ardigo quoted miners as saying the stoppage was a matter of "no contract, no work."

Lewis has demanded such reopening, but so far the government has not directly agreed to go that far.

Armed with a thinly-veiled threat to renew last spring's strike by his 400,000 soft coal miners, the fiery union leader apparently held most of the top cards—presumably conceded in advance—in his play for a new wage agreement.

In setting today's meeting, Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug, who is away on a western inspection tour, delegated his aide, Coal Mines Administrator N. H. Collisson, to open the parley. Krug is not due back in Washington until after November 6.

One thing appeared certain: Lewis will hold the stage in the preliminary phases of the negotiations. Krug has already made that clear.

Lewis—or one of his aides—will talk. The government, as operator of the seized pits, will listen.

Lewis' main objective is to scrap not later than November 20 the agreement he signed with Krug last May 29 to end the 59-day spring strike. Then, unless the government agrees to a new contract on wages, hours and other matters, Lewis claims the present pact will be "void"—and a void contract almost inevitably means the diggers will lay down their tools.

In his abrupt notice to Krug on October 21 that the current pact had become distasteful, Lewis charged the government with breach of contract by "misinterpretations."

Issues Proclamation For Armistice Day

Harrisburg, Nov. 1.—(P)—Observance of Armistice Day, Nov. 11, "in patriotic meetings and in prayer" was urged today by Governor Martin in proclaiming the day a legal holiday in Pennsylvania.

"Twenty-eight years ago—on Nov. 11, 1918—the liberty people of the world had reason to rejoice," the governor said in the proclamation. "Aggressive nations had been defeated by the United States and its Allies."

He said the armies of aggressor nations marched again a quarter of a century after World War I ended, and added:

"Now, once more, this nation and its Allies have triumphed. On this 28th anniversary of Armistice Day, we again honor the men who died in World War One; we honor, also, those who fell in World War Two."

Ask Change In Consideration Of U. N. Site

Lake Success, N. Y., Nov. 1.—(P)—The United States today asked the United Nations to broaden its considerations of a site for permanent headquarters to include the Flushing meadows area of New York City, and the San Francisco bay area.

Intervening in the controversial site question for the first time, Warren R. Huston, chief of the United States delegation to the U. N. assembly, issued a formal statement saying he favored inclusion of the two new areas in the site discussions, which were limited to the areas of Westchester county, N. Y., and Fairfield county, Conn.

Austin said:

"In response to what we find to be the desire of other member nations, the United States will take active part in assisting the United Nations to reach a final decision on its permanent home at this session of the assembly."

"The agenda before the assembly now provides only for action on the recommendations of the headquarters commission, which suggests five sites in Westchester county and was authorized to survey only that county and Fairfield County (Conn.)."

"The United States will move to have the agenda broadened to consideration of sites which may be available without cost or at reasonable cost in all parts of the New York area, including Westchester, and in the San Francisco bay area."

Miners Leave Pits In West Virginia

Williamson, W. Va., Nov. 1.—(P)—Secretary J. D. Ardigo of the Williamson Operators Association said 15 of the 42 coal mines in the Williamson field were closed today by a walkout of miners which came as their union representatives began negotiations for higher wages.

On the basis of around 250 men employed at each mine, Ardigo estimated 4,000 miners were idle.

Ardigo said one superintendent quoted the miners as saying "no contract, no work."

The walkout, which came despite a call from United Mine Workers leaders to the men to remain on the job, coincided with a meeting in Washington by UMW officials with Federal Coal Mines Administrator N. H. Collisson.

ST. MARYS HUNTER IS HURT IN THE WOODS

St. Marys, Nov. 1.—(P)—Philip Stauffer, 26, World War II veteran suffered facial wounds 30 minutes after the Pennsylvania hunter fired a shot from a .30-caliber rifle at a deer in the woods.

The first accident reported in this district. His condition was reported not serious at St. Marys hospital. Details of the accident were not available.

Caustic Statement Issued By Bituminous Committee

Washington, Nov. 1.—(P)—Following is the text of a statement today by the Bituminous Coal Operators' Negotiating Committee:

The operators' negotiating committee have been and are much interested spectators at the strange proceedings now being unfolded at Washington—the spectacle of a new powerful politician and other government official whose intimate relationship with the president of the United Mine Workers has been well known in coal circles for years making decisions involving highly important matters without consulting the owners of the mines.

These politically minded men have now reopened the wage agreement which the man who made the agreement for the government (Secretary Krug) said could not be reopened under the circumstances and terms of the agreement itself. Most newspaper reports indicate that Secretary Krug did not know what was going on in Washington and indeed also lead us to believe that the secretary of labor did not have a place in this decision.

The decision means the proper ties of the coal operators are seized and operated by the department of the interior for the government and that Mr. Lewis and his union are free to work or not to work; to make demands for more and more concessions with implication of a stoppage of coal supply on the threshold of winter if his demands are refused; and to humiliate the government with impunity.

This shabby decision to capitulate to Lewis' demand for a reopening of the agreement is so bad that its authors have been unable to utter a word in its favor. If the country-wide ownership of property can be set aside in such summary fashion, it is time that the American people realize the serious and far-reaching implications of such action.

The decision was taken at a time when miners were making more money in wages than any other body of workers, skilled or semi-skilled, in the whole nation and their working conditions were more favorable than ever before in history.

Any such abject surrender by government would be a public disgrace and a shame.

NEWBORN BABY FOUND IN PUDDLE IN YARD

Philadelphia, Nov. 1.—(P)—A newly born blue-eyed baby who was found lying in a mud puddle in a yard here, was recovering from exposure today while police sought a clue to the infant's identity.

The baby, weighing seven pounds and one-fourth ounce, was discovered yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Mazzoni after the baby's feeble cries attracted the couple's attention.

Officials at Frankford hospital, where the baby was treated for exposure, said the girl appeared in good physical condition otherwise.

FIERY LEADER CONCEDED TO HOLD TOP CARDS

De Gaulle Appeal Endorses the MRP

Paris, Nov. 1.—(P)—Charles De Gaulle today urged the French people to vote in the Nov. 10 general elections for those candidates who favor revision of the new constitution which was approved in a national referendum on Oct. 13.

The appeal was tantamount to endorsement of the Popular Republican Movement (MRP) as well as the newly formed Gaullist Union headed by De Gaulle's former education minister, Rene Capitant.

De Gaulle made no allusion in his statement, however, as to whether he would be a candidate for president of the republic in the forthcoming elections, which will give France her first regularly elected government since the war. His secretariat would not comment on the possibility of his candidacy.

Third Arbitrator In Duquesne Dispute

Washington, Nov. 1.—(P)—George E. Strong, Washington attorney, has been appointed by Secretary of Labor Schweikbach to act as impartial arbitrator in the dispute between the Duquesne Light and Power Co., Pittsburgh, and an independent union.

The former army air forces colonel, who was appointed last night will meet with George Mueller president of the independent union and Maurice Schmitt, New York consulting engineer selected by the power company as its representative, to arbitrate the dispute that caused the recent 27-day power strike in Pittsburgh.

Schweikbach said he appointed Strong, who has served as arbitrator in a number of recent cases, under terms of the arbitrator agreement which ended the crippling strike.

SAYS BETHLEHEM CAN NOT INCREASE WAGES

New York, Nov. 1.—(P)—The steel industry cannot pay increased wage rates on the present prices of steel, says Chairman E. G. Grace of Bethlehem Steel Corp.

He made the statement at a news conference yesterday after Bethlehem reported third quarter net income of $10,543,005, equal to $29.9 a common share, compared with $7.761,667 or $2.05 for the same 1945 period.

Elaborating on the wage increase statement, Grace declared: "If it is proved that we could (pay increased wages), I'm for it (pay increased wages), I'm for it (pay increased wages), I'm for it (pay increased wages). This would be a sounder contribution to the national economy."

TONIGHT AND TOMORROW NORTH WARREN HALLOWE'EN CARNIVAL

KIDS' COSTUME PARADE SATURDAY 2:30 P. M. - GRAND PRIZE AWARD 1947 PLYMOUTH SEDAN, SATURDAY EVENING

But One Hallowe'en Party Is Rudely Interrupted By Cops

Last night was Hallowe'en and over the streets of the city flitted groups of young and old garbed in costumes grotesque, queer and comical. Little folks and big folks were all out ready for fun and frolic but the Old Weatherman did not cooperate and he sort of put the damper on things. But it was Hallowe'en in spite of the Weatherman and a good time was had. Scores of parties were held over the city and the groups enjoyed a fire time with hallowed games and sports incidents to the date.

Only one party was interrupted by the police. It was being held amid the brush and weeds along the banks of the old mill pond where on previous occasions many affairs have been held. The boys have formed a meeting place amid the willows and the resort is a popular one with the apple wine, gun and beer addicts. The chief game played in passing the bottle and guessing as to how it will be replenished. The circle of guests last evening was not large, only three having responded to the call of the jungle. There were no refreshments, it being strictly a drinking party, sans canapes and other trimmings.

The police were roused by the raucous laughter, the sound of the merry choruses and finally they swooped down and scipped in the guests who were given an auto ride to the shelter of the police station. Fortunately when the cops arrived the jars had been emptied so the guests were not cheated of their headaches this morning when they awoke on the slats.

Magistrate Greenlund extended the boys the usual courtesies of the court and instead of the Hallowe'en greeting "Trick or Treat" gave his interpretation "settle or serve".

AMUSEMENTS

AT LIBRARY
Ernest Hemingway's famed short story, "The Killers" has been translated to the screen by Producer Mark Hellinger, who is himself a noted short story writer, and will open at the Library Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

The tense, human drama features a trio of young, dynamic players in Burt Lancaster, Ava Gardner and Edmond O'Brien.

In true Hemingway style, all the picture's characters are sharply etched and leave a definite impact on the mind. The central figure is an insurance man, played by O'Brien, whose attempt to settle a small claim leads him to the uncovering of a long-disbarred group of criminals.

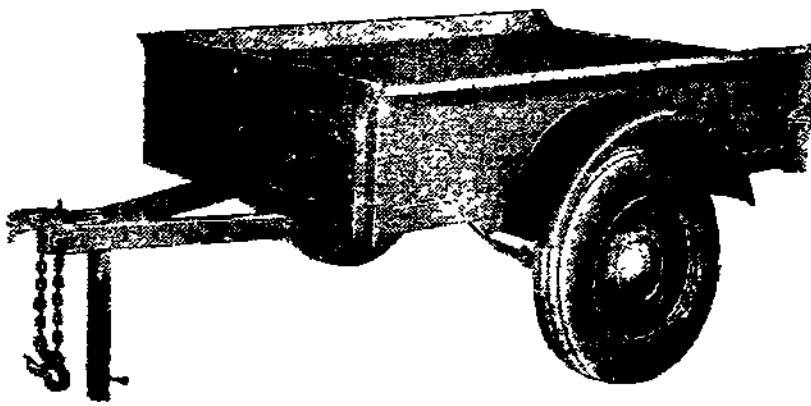

In the strong supporting cast are Albert Dekker, the popular Sam Levene, Vince Barnett and others.

The film has a haunting new song, "The More I Know of Love," sung by Miss Gardner.

CHECKS ARE DELAYED
Incorrect mailing addresses resulted in delays for more than 3,000 veterans of this area in receiving government checks in payment for disability compensation, subsistence and other benefits, the Veterans Administration announced. Paul V. Bennett, chief of finance in the VA office at Pittsburgh, said that 3,341 checks, representing more than 3.5 per cent of the $4,547 checks sent out in one month, were returned undelivered by the Post Office Department because of faulty address.

PENNSYLVANIA'S SHAME

(Editorial from Pittsburgh Post-Gazette—October 15, 1946)

"Early last May, Life Magazine published a shocking expose of conditions in the nation's mental hospitals, including certain of those in Pennsylvania.

"A few days later, Governor Martin ordered a survey of the state's hospital facilities.

"That survey (report of conditions in Pennsylvania's mental institutions), reported Sunday, confirmed Life's findings and prompted a warning from the State Department of Welfare that immediate action must be taken to lift the mental institutions from the condition into which they have fallen.

"This latest report of neglect doesn't make very good breakfast reading. But, as the welfare workers report, it is fitting that the fullest information be made available for full, free and public discussion of this operation and the development of the services."

"The inescapable truth is that while we spend millions for the comfort and convenience of those capable of taking a hand in their own affairs, we turn our backs on the mentally ill, as though these unfortunates should be put away and forgotten as quickly and inexpensively as possible.

"The states simply haven't been willing to spend sufficient funds to do a decent job.

"This state, for instance, starts attendants in its mental hospitals at a base salary of less than $900.00 a year plus maintenance, while it starts prison guards at $1,950.00 a year plus maintenance. And yet the jobs are certainly comparable.

"There is nothing wrong with the situation in Pennsylvania, or anywhere else, that money won't alleviate."

The State Republican administration boasts that it has a two hundred million dollar ($200,000,000.00) surplus. While this huge sum was being accumulated, for political purposes, by the DO NOTHING REPUBLICAN ADMINISTRATION, Governor Martin turned his back on the mentally ill and failed to provide for their comfort and proper treatment.

Instead of continuing with the State Authority Building Program, inaugurated by Democratic Governor George H. Earle, the DO NOTHING REPUBLICAN STATE ADMINISTRATION discontinued the institutional building program and abolished the State Authority. This action by the DO NOTHING REPUBLICAN STATE ADMINISTRATION, has resulted in a long waiting list for admission to mental and tubercular institutions and general overcrowding in these institutions.

John S. Rice, Democratic candidate for Governor, and his running mates, have pledged to eliminate these "concentration camp" conditions in Pennsylvania's institutions. They have pledged to inaugurate a program of modern treatment, and have pledged to staff Pennsylvania's institutions with competent and qualified personnel.

You can make these pledges a reality on November 5th, by going to the polls and voting

Ballroom Of Moose Club To Be Remodeled

Trustees of the Warren Lodge of Moose have had plans prepared for the most extensive remodeling program that has been carried out in the ball room on the third floor of the Moose Home ever undertaken. Discussion of the work has been under way for some time but due to the shortage of material, etc., it could not be carried out.

The plans call for the installation of a sound absorbent ceiling, draperies around the entire interior of the room forming the latest ideas of decoration of clubs of the kind. Booths will be erected on three sides of the large hall with attractive flower boxes, etc., as decorations. The booths will be of the type that have been in use in the club cocktail lounge for some years past. The kitchen will be shifted in position and the cocktail bar placed near the kitchen. The change will be such as to make the hall one of the most beautiful ballrooms in the city.

Contractors will be given blue prints of the plans soon and bids will be asked. The improvement will entail the expenditure of several thousands of dollars and when completed will afford the club a delightful place for entertainment of members and their women friends.

Much work is being done on the lodge room of the club at present and it is being rushed preparatory to the class initiation to be held November 20.

The Warren Lodge of the Moose now has a membership of close to 1200 men of the community and is one of the leading civic minded organizations, having performed many acts for the betterment of the residents of the community.

Expansion Is Planned By Local Firm

Farmers Hatchery Supply Co., 102 Penna. Ave., E., is undertaking a plan to expand its operations and keep the community informed of its services and stocks of merchandise through a series of regular advertisements, the first of which appears in this issue of the Times-Mirror.

Because of the tremendous demand for food, the Farmers Hatchery Supply Co. believes it to be a public service to make known its products and services which will contribute to the accomplishment of the task confronting the farmers and feeders of Warren and community.

A principal factor in the series will be Purina Chows for livestock and poultry. Sanitation Products and farm supplies. These are the products of extensive study at the 712-acre Ralston Purina Research Farm, Gray Summit, Mo., and Ralston Purina Company's analytical, biological and pathological laboratories.

Produced under exacting standards and from quality ingredients, there are Purina Chows for feeding all types of livestock and poultry, from tiny laboratory animals to cattle, and Farmers Hatchery Supply Co. intends to keep this area informed as to the stocks he has available through the columns of the Times-Mirror.

A variety of Purina Sanitation Products, scientifically prepared for disease prevention, parasite control and combating germ carriers, and farm supply items like feeders, waterers, brooders and many others, designed for maximum efficiency, endurance, economy and profit will receive appropriate attention.

AIR MAIL RATES CUT

Everybody is a patron of the post office and the reduction in airmail rates from the U. S. A. to all parts of the world, starting today, is of real interest. Instead of rates that formerly were as high as 70 cents a half ounce, they'll be down to 25 cents.

Rates to South America, in fact, will be only 10 cents a half ounce and to Europe 15 cents. To far-off Asia and Africa and the Far East, the cost will be only 25 cents.

We surely have gone places these modern days when we're told that a letter mailed from San Francisco to Shanghai or New Zealand will arrive in less than three days by air! Paris is only one day away from our east coast.

Since Oct. 1 domestic air mail rates have been five cents for one ounce—and the volume of airmail once more is steadily increasing. The day may not be far distant when all letters for a distance of 100 miles or more will be sent by plane.

So far as Warren is concerned, the inauguration of the pick-up airmail service through this area a half dozen years ago was really a notable event. It's been well-patronized ever since.

HELP KEEP FORESTS PRODUCTIVE

Are you one of those who like to calculate for the fun of working figures? Well, here are some figures from the pulpwood industry that will keep you counting for a while.

Last year the postmen all over America delivered more than 20 billion pieces of first class mail, most of it written on paper made from wood pulp. Then there were 5 billion pieces of second, third and fourth class mail and a billion letters and parcels that went by airmail. Figure the sheets of paper, the paper boxes and wrapping, the tags and shipping labels, and if you like astronomical figures, add in the yards of wrapping paper, tissue paper, wax paper, paper towels and paper other things.

Don't overlook the telegram blanks; and then add in the newspapers, magazines, and books that were not mailed. When you finish you may have some idea of the problem America has ahead of it to maintain the forests needed to supply America's information facilities and its packing and shipping habits.

The least you can do to help is to keep fire out of the woods. If you own woodlands, the most you can do is to manage your woods so that they will be fully productive, cut and market your trees when they are ready for harvest. Don't waste the thrifty young trees until they are full grown or mature.

JOB FOR SANTA CLAUS HIMSELF

Now is the season of the year when the not-always-pleasant spirit of Christmas shopping is abroad. Some prudent people are already at their gift buying, and the stores are urging the laggards to do likewise. And to the prudent and hesitant alike the worry of what to buy, where to find it, and how to pay for it, has been added to their chronic troubles.

Being afflicted with the same worry, we can pass along only one comforting thought. We are glad, at Christmas time, that we are not Mr. and Mrs. August Macey of Berne, Ind., who the other day were blessed with their 106th (and 98th living) grandchild.

Think of being haunted annually by the voices of a chorus, nearly a hundred strong, saying, "Wonder what grandpa and Grandma are going to give me!" And think if you dare, of the birthdays.

The biggest Christmas buying spree in history is a probability for department stores this year, Business Week reports.

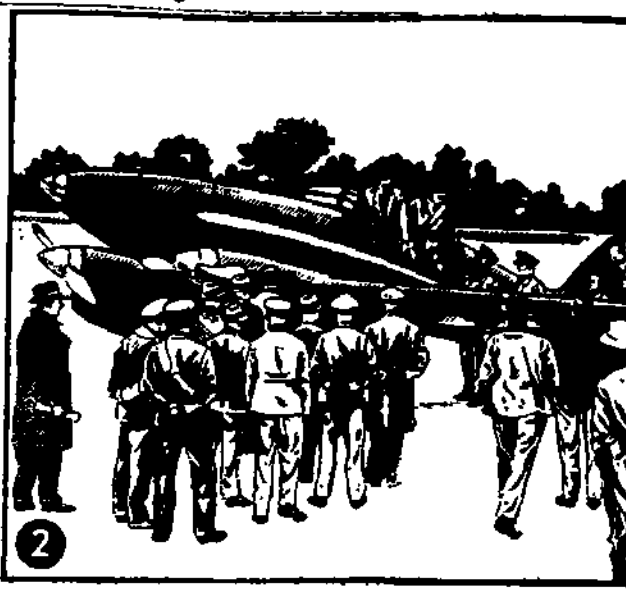

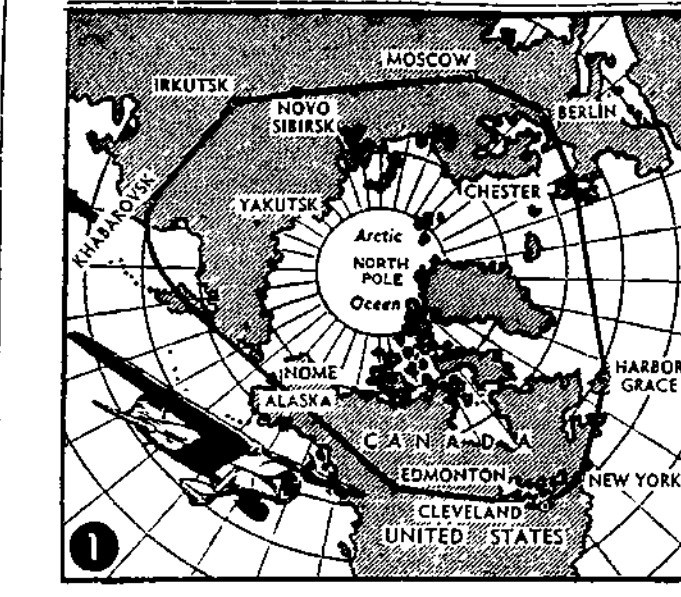

Noting that the adjusted index of department store sales for August "almost blew the top out of the thermometer," the publication observes:

"Department stores accepted what looked like a miracle—at least to those who had been loud in predicting buyers' strikes—with utter equanimity. Preliminary reports for early September indicated sales were still limping. And by Christmas, department store controllers predict, the swelling stream of dollars will grow into a greatest torrent on record."

The Weatherman favored small game hunters with most favorable conditions for the opening day. All indications point to a most successful season. All hunters should strive to make it free of accidents.

Next Tuesday is election day. The privilege of voting is one to be cherished more this year than in many other Novembers. Don't let it slip!

WINGS OF TOMORROW: The Story of Aviation

BY CHARLES TRACY
Aviation editor, Cleveland Press; former Army pilot (Written for NEA Service)

(1) Aviation hit the big time in the 1930's. Ocean spanning grew to globe-girdling. Wiley Post, flying the Lockheed "Winnie Mae" with Harold Gatty as navigator, in 1931 flew around the world in eight days, 15 hours, and 51 minutes. Two years later the famous one-eyed pilot did it alone in seven days, using a new-type automatic pilot which allowed him to sleep while crossing the Atlantic. At the 1932 National Air Races in Cleveland, Maj. James E. Doolittle pushed the land-plane speed record to 294.28 miles an hour, flying a Granville Brothers racer.

(2) The London-Melbourne MacRobertson International Air Race of 11,300 miles was a test of the world's best planes and pilots in 1934. C. W. A. Scott and T. Campbell Black of England won in a two-engine DeHavilland Comet, despite personality clashes en route. They finished the race on one engine, thus proving the reliability of a twin-engine plane. K. L. M. Royal Dutch Air Lines pilots placed second in an American-built Douglas transport, and Roscoe Turner and Clyde Pangborn finished third in a Boeing 247 air liner. The race, which served to pioneer international flying, demonstrated that the United States was taking the lead in development of fast passenger planes.

(3) In 1938 Pan American Airways inaugurated trans-Pacific air passenger service between San Francisco and Manila. Wake and Midway islands were intermediate stops. Howard Hughes in 1938 lowered the round-the-world flight record to three days, 19 hours, and 14 minutes in a Lockheed Lodestar. Douglas (Wrong-way) Corrigan created an international ruckus when he told government officials of the United States and Ireland he mistakenly flew east over the Atlantic to Dublin, Ireland, though he intended to go to Los Angeles from New York in his range-stretched Curtiss Robin.

(4) From Germany in 1939 came a warning that a powerful air force was being built in the Third Reich. Test-pilot Fritz Wendel shattered the land-plane speed record with a mark of 468.9 m. p. h. in a military Messerschmidt, BF-109-R. The same type plane later became Germany's standard fighter—a hard one to beat. The life-time dream of Igor Sikorsky, Americanized Russian aircraft designer, was realized in 1940, when a helicopter of his design made its first successful flight at Stratford, Conn.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

In 1936
The officials of the Pennsylvania Gas Company announced this morning that their large new building on Second avenue would be ready for occupancy by the 15th of this month.

E. L. Stein returned Saturday from New York, where he has been for some time purchasing goods for his Liberty street store. Mr. Stein reports that owing to strike conditions in the garment trade it is difficult to purchase coats although dresses may readily be secured.

Two stills belonging to the Eclipse refinery of the Atlantic Refining company at Franklin, were destroyed by fire of undetermined origin today.

Only three scores constituted the game between Olean and Bradford Saturday in which the Olean team defeated the Raiders 6-3. All scores were field goals.

Carl Hagstrom is Warren's champion sleeper. He dozed off in the movie at the Library Theater and woke up at 2:00 a. m. in his theater seat. A flashlight aided in his escape.

Washington Daybook

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — This year there is no controversy over the day to be set aside to gobble the gobbler.

There are only four Thursdays in November, so Thanksgiving will have to be the last one.

The nationwide controversy over when Thanksgiving should be observed has worn a little thin anyway since Congress in 1941 set the fourth Thursday as the official feast day.

Some states continued to pick their own date when there were five Thursdays in the month. Last year Tennessee and Arkansas observed the last, or fifth, Thursday. All other states observed the holiday a week earlier.

THE split grew out of a proclamation by President Roosevelt in 1939. In an effort to provide a longer period between Thanksgiving and Christmas, he ordered the holiday to be the next-to-last instead of the last Thursday. In some years this would make Thanksgiving the third Thursday. F. D. R. had acted at the request of retail merchants who thought their Christmas business might pick up if there were a longer shopping period between the holidays.

Many governors ignored the change and clung to the traditional date, the last Thursday in the month, originally set by President Lincoln in 1864.

In 1941 President Roosevelt announced that the expected commercial benefits had failed to develop. Later by a house joint resolution, the fourth Thursday was set as the date anyway.

Whether Congress or state governors get the final say seems to be a moot question. Perhaps some day the U. S. Supreme Court will be asked to decide once and for all who is the final authority on declaring holidays.

MEANWHILE, the Department of Agriculture says there'll be enough turkey and trimmings for everybody.

It is estimated that the civilian per capita supply will allow 4 1/2 pounds of turkey to every person. The supply last year provided for 4 1/2 pounds. In pre-war years from 1935 to 1939 there were only 2 1/2 pounds per person.

Because of increased buying power, there will be a broader demand for turkey this year. On the other hand, the military supply is down. Last year a million pounds of turkey were served on Thanksgiving to American forces in Japan.

All In Readiness For Youth Activity

The Elephant-Donkey theme to be incorporated into plans for the community youth party at Beatty school on Saturday night will line up with what looks like ringing down the curtain on the golden season.

Flour show numbers, to go on at ten o'clock, with Ellwood Beck with an emcee, will feature a specialty by the Dragon Drum Majorettes, with Lois Hulings as accompanist; cheers and school songs, led by the high school cheerleaders.

Solo numbers will include Danna Benjamin, vocalist; Marilyn Dobbs in a fast boogie tap; Marjorie Ann Edwards, with an acrobatic ballet dance.

The party, as usual, gets under way at 8:15 and lasts until 11:15. A "wishing well" will be installed for loose change donations to assist in financing these community functions.

A final rehearsal, together with meetings of the decorating and set-up committees, will be held at the school building at 10 a. m. Saturday.

Ewings and Scalise Rites October 26th

At 9:30 a. m. Saturday, October 26, in St. Joseph's rectory, Father Alfred Bauer united in marriage Rose Scalise, daughter of Tony Scalise, 1014 West Fifth avenue, and Walter Ewings, of St. Mary's.

The bride wore a navy blue suit, brown accessories and a corsage of pink roses and baby's breath. Mrs. Robert Hennessy attended her sister in a black suit, with which she wore a red corsage.

Burnell Ewings, of St. Mary's, was best man.

Mothers of the two were presented red rose corsages by the newlyweds.

Immediately following the ceremony, a buffet dinner was served to the immediate families, bridal figures topping the three-tier wedding cake which centered the attractive table.

The couple will reside in Warren for the present.

4-H Achievement Week

Eighteen thousand boys and girls across the country are having the week of November 2-10 dedicated to them. This week is 4-H Club Achievement Week, in recognition of the 11,485 girls in 4-H Home Economics Clubs and the 6,782 boys and girls in 4-H Agricultural Clubs. Here in Warren county are 119 boys and girls who can be proud of their achievements in 4-H work during the past summer. They raised 31 calves, 74 capons, made 87 dresses and other garments, planned and carried out 10 family picnics, and prepared 654 meals. Twenty-four boys and girls attended 4-H camp at Camp Cornplanter in McKean county and eight others went to 4-H Club Week held at State College. Not only can the 4-H members and their parents feel proud of the accomplishments, but in each community where there was a club, there is a club leader who was responsible for the group's success. The cooking club leaders included Mrs. Margaret Cable and Mrs. Ernest Van Cise, Cable Hollow; Mrs. Gerald Whaley and Mrs. John Waite, Spring Creek; Mrs. Evelyn Wilson, Swede Hollow; Mrs. Floyd Bathurst, North Warren, and Mrs. John Moravick, Sanford. Leaders of the sewing clubs were Sheila Betts, Columbus (younger girls); Mrs. Kathryn Spoon, Columbus (older girls); Mrs. Virginia Summerson, Sugar Grove; Mrs. R. H. Mickelson, Cobham Hill, and Mrs. Dorothy Anderson, Triumph. Leaders of the outdoor cooking clubs were Mrs. W. G. Lyon, Lander, and Mrs. H. G. Irwin, Jr., Garland. In the agricultural clubs, Beecher Shaw was the leader of the Capon Club at Mick Hill, and Calif Club leaders were C. J. Curtis, Columbus; Carl Spelling, Lottsville, and Arvid Gruber, Lander.

Figures for 1936 production by Pennsylvania 4-H Agricultural members tell their own story: 1032 members of dairy projects had 818 calves, 179 heifers, 35 cows; 578 Capon Club members fed 14,450 capons, worth $54,188; 638 Baby Beef Club members raised an estimated 311 tons of beef; 642 Pig Club members produced 69.4 tons of pork; 1719 members had vegetable gardens, produced value at $57,570; 203 Chick Club members raised 20,300 birds; 153 Bee Club members produced 10,075 pounds of honey; in Pennsylvania 5,130 girls were enrolled in sewing clubs, and 2,479 were in food clubs. Outdoor cooking clubs had 1,415 members. Here in Warren county, 35 girls completed garments in the sewing clubs, finished 348 dresses and 18 in outdoor cooking. Reports of their work included 41 stockings darned, 594 buttons sewed on, 143 garments mended and 729 garments pressed. The girls who cooked reported preparing 1762 dishes and assisting with 1130 family meals during the course of the summer. The girls in outdoor cooking clubs learned to make at least two different types of fires, learned to cook in a pot and without utensils, and each developed a new nature hobby.

Plans to open to boys and girls of all ages from 10 and 21 and under the direction of the county agent and the county home economics representative of the Agricultural Extension Association, O. C. Tritt, Eli Martin and Miss Mollie Pickering. Meetings are held during the summer, with round-ups where the members exhibit their work in the fall.

LOCAL WOMAN TALKS TO HUSBAND IN TOKYO

A record long-distance telephone call was made to Warren Tuesday evening at seven o'clock, when Lieut. Arthur H. Davis, who has been in the Pacific area for five months with the Eleventh Airborne Division, Eighth Army at Tokyo talked to Mrs. Davis at the home of Mrs. Rose Sigworth, Coneywango extension. Mrs. Davis had been advised that the call would be made at that hour which according to the difference in time it would be back to the states in Wednesday morning in Tokyo. She says her connections were unusually clear considering the distant span. At times the voice faded out and then came in clear and distinct. Lieut. Davis reported that he is enjoying good health and expects to return to the states in the near future. The time of his arrival and method of transportation will be revealed in a cablegram that is expected most any day. Naturally the entire family, including the sister, Mrs. Sigworth, and his father, Ross Davis, Dartmouth street, were very much thrilled by the call.

LAURA WHEELER DESIGNS

When coffee was served in the drawing room he learned the young man's name was Joseph. But Joseph himself spoke no word. His frail old hand trembled when he handed Niel his coffee. The coffee was strong and of such a peculiar flavor he wondered if it had been drugged so he drank only a little, amused by his feeble self protection. Then wanting to evade their watching eyes behind a cloud of smoke he fumbled in his pocket for his pipe. It was empty, but as he was about to slip it back in his pocket Conrad stopped him.

"I'll get some tobacco." It was almost as if he was glad of an excuse to get out of the room. With his going the atmosphere turned rife with hostility.

"Perhaps you would prefer cigarettes?"

Yesterday Is Nowhere

By BEATRICE MUIR

Chapter 4

NIEL felt the strangeness of the way it was spoken. The beer was cold and mellow like no other beer he had tasted and the act of drinking relieved his tension so that his strange sensation of unreality vanished and he found himself guessing at how much they knew about him. After complimenting the beer he sat down in a deep winged chair near the fireplace.

"Drinking to the future," he said cheerfully, "interests me in my own immediate future—have you plans for it?"

The man was amused. "Naturally, but this is really not the time to discuss them."

The man gave a sudden surprised laugh. "I think you are under the impression we have mistaken you for someone else, believe me that is not so."

"My impression is less superficial," answered Niel lightly. "It's a powerful motive that plucks an American officer bodily off the streets of Berlin and I never underestimate the motives of other men. No, you haven't mistaken me for another, rather you are mistaken about me."

An unguarded look of bewilderment crossed Conrad's face then he leaned forward in his chair expectantly waiting for the man's answer. But their host seeming to have lost his bearings eased back in his chair, his head turned toward Conrad. With a faint smile Conrad barefacedly pointed to a porcelain figure of a cow on the mantelpiece.

"That," he said profoundly, "belonged to my grandfather."

Niel eyed him sardonically. "No!"

"It's a model of his favorite cow," went on Conrad. "He had an unusual respect for the animals." On and on he talked in spite of the fact Niel stared at him like a stone god.

This prattle, thought Niel, promises to be endless. He's deliberately doing it because that chap verged on asking me some of those away questions you said with exaggerated politeness "in contrast with England and Europe."

Chapter 5

GRADUALLY toward the end of the meal a doubt crossed his mind as to whether they were as interested in what he said as in how he said it. He had an uncomfortable feeling they had deliberately made him talk, that their eyes absorbed his every expression and mannerism. He found himself speaking more slowly to give himself a chance to see if there was anything about the manner of them he had overlooked, anything that struck a responsive chord. But he was at a loss, his ease of conversation gradually slackened. In the recurring silences he tried to remember any untoward events in the past, in London and Paris that he could link with their efforts. But yesterday seemed to have drifted beyond his mind's perspective abandoning him with these two scrutinizing dinner companions—and an empty place at his right hand.

But that empty place held unlimited possibilities—it belonged to the lady of the house, and to her belonged their efforts. But in case the quiet intrinsic beauty of all he saw in this house, Conrad had not been pleased that her place had been set, as if he wished to shield her from what was happening.

When coffee was served in the drawing room he learned the young man's name was Joseph. But Joseph himself spoke no word. His frail old hand trembled when he handed Niel his coffee. The coffee was strong and of such a peculiar flavor he wondered if it had been drugged so he drank only a little, amused by his feeble self protection. Then wanting to evade their watching eyes behind a cloud of smoke he fumbled in his pocket for his pipe. It was empty, but as he was about to slip it back in his pocket Conrad stopped him.

"I'll get some tobacco." It was almost as if he was glad of an excuse to get out of the room. With his going the atmosphere turned rife with hostility.

"Perhaps you would prefer cigarettes?"

Niel shook his head. "I never smoke them."

"Nor do I."

"Do you play cards, captain?"

"Seldom. I'd rather read in my spare time."

"Then tomorrow I'll show you our library."

"Thank you."

"I'm sorry my wife felt too ill to come down. She would have made this evening more pleasant for you." His voice held genuine regret. Niel scarcely knew what formality he spoke, his mind was on the woman herself. Perhaps she had feigned illness, perhaps he might be able to induce her to smuggle a note to Berlin. Suddenly he wanted to laugh at his frail desperate hope. The man's voice broke in on his thinking.

"Fortunately," Mr. Dana, you are not married."

"Unfortunately," he even smiled at the other's gravity.

"Are you by any chance engaged?" As Niel shook his head he continued, "It's a wonder you're not with so many ambitious mothers in the world... or did you?" he turned his head to see Niel's face more clearly. "I did you hope to marry Freya Runstedt?"

IT WAS as if a gun went off in Niel's face. He thought desperately. What should I say... what should I say? When he did speak he hardly knew the sound of his own voice so cool and calm it sounded to his inner confusion.

"Could you blame me. I suppose you read about it in the newspapers." The man nodded, chuckling a little. Well, he was fooled for a time at least. But panic seized Niel's brain. Why had he spoken of Freya? He had posed that question deliberately in an effort to discover something. But what had this to do with Freya? Suddenly he felt helpless and foolish like a man cunningly robbed by a weakling thief. He wished Conrad would come down. Perhaps he was talking to someone up there, to this man's wife. A musical clock somewhere in the room played a few bars of a melody he didn't know and as it struck the hour he counted. Ten. Then with relief he heard Conrad come slowly downstairs but what he reached the doorway his face looked so strained and weary Niel felt that something had happened up there.

"We thought you had forgotten the tobacco," said the man sharply. Ignoring him Conrad held out the jar.

"As it is to your room, you... the only one in the house who smokes." Slowly Niel screwed off the lid and filled his pipe aware that Conrad suspected their conversation had come to a dead end. As he lit his pipe their glance met, then smoke drifted between them, and of him it was certain he saw an apology in Conrad's eyes. He smoked in silence, determined to force the issue and Conrad too sat immovable until the very air about them seemed oppressive. When the man began to speak it was with his voice cleaved through the air with a menacing power.

"You thought it strange that I mentioned Freya Runstedt?" Niel only looked at him, a chill of forbidding crept over him so that only by effort did he keep his hand from trembling as he switched his pipe. "You have known her many years?"

"All my life," answered Niel quietly and the very thought of it conjured up a picture of her: tall vibrant energy and laughing voice and of him sitting in a darkened stall listening to the music flowing from under her lithe fingers. The man's voice took on a judicial tone.

"Just before the war you used your influence to persuade the Nazi Government to release her husband and give him permission to leave the country."

"And I failed, as the world knows."

"Surely you did not expect success?"

Niel recalled his expectations of success.

"I didn't know the Nazis then." The man leaned forward. "And now you know them, particularly men of influence who were willing to attempt negotiations on your behalf... we are interested in those names. They watched his reaction, Conrad pale as death facing his scorn."

Students Of Local School Enjoy Party

On Wednesday evening, October 30, the students of the Warren Business School held a Halloween party in the Warren state armory.

The party got off to a fine start when Mr. Marek, manager of the Warren School, welcomed as guests, students of the Jamestown Business College and its manager, Mr. Stayman. On behalf of the Warren students, Mr. Marek presented the guests a key to an evening of entertainment and fun.

The decorating committee and its chairman, Frederick Jury, had the hall decorated in typical Halloween fashion. Black and orange streamers were hung from the walls; pumpkins, cornstalks, black cats and jack-o-lanterns were all about the room, even on the stage to scare the entertainers. However, the talented students refused to be scared and presented the following program which was applauded by all:

Songs—"I Surrender Dear", "Ain't Misbehavin'" and "Star Dust"—Miss Dale Holcomb accompanied by Miss Alberta Sears. Clarinet Solos—"Peppermint" and "Ma, She's Making Eyes at Me"—

Warren Man Wins Award For An Idea

In the current issue of the Beam, house organ of the Sylvania Corporation the following interesting notes relative to the Warren plants of the company are noted:

Fred Shattuck, machinist at the Warren plant, was awarded a check for $250, more than half of the total amount paid out this month, for his idea for a mechanically operated injector on pin-rolling machines. Only twelve Sylvania men came through with suggestions this month, the smallest number of suggestion winners since the beginning of 1945. With this in mind, Suggestion Committees noted that there is always room for improvement and the door is wide open for new ideas and suggestions. A total of $419 was paid to these winners for their ideas.

Gerald C. Andrews has been appointed Supervisor of Plant Accounting at Warren, succeeding Mr. Edward R. Segee. Mr. Andrews transfers to Warren from Elmoreport where he held the position of Assistant Division Cost Accountant. He now reports directly to Mr. A. L. Chapman, Plant Manager.

Ralph Clausen has been appointed Superintendent of the Plastics Plant in Warren. Prior to joining Sylvania, Mr. Clausen was with the U. S. Navy, serving four years as Field Representative for the Bureau of Ordnance. At the time of his discharge he held the rank of Commander.

William McGugan accompanied by his sister, Joan McGugan.

"Violin Solos—"Two Guitars" and "Holiday Waltz"—Paul Gray accompanied by Miss Regina Creitzner.

As an added attraction, Mr. Randall Arters presented a Black Face Monologue and played his own accompaniment.

Throughout the evening dancing and games were enjoyed by all. In fact, there was never a dull moment, for Lloyd Miller, who ably acted as master of ceremonies had couples trying to eat ice cream from the same dish with their spoons attached to one string, had them placing match boxes on each other's noses without the use of their hands and had them eating apples suspended by strings when the jute box was not playing their favorite dance tunes.

The climax of a delightful evening came when the call for refreshments was given. Miss Mabel Peterson and her committee served a Halloween lunch from a cleverly decorated table.

With full stomachs and gay spirits, the students participated in a cake walk which concluded a gala affair.

You've probably figured your present car won't have to last much longer.

We hope you're right. For our part, we're doing our best to get those grand new Packards to our customers.

• You know the situation

But, like every other motor car manufacturer, Packard is still struggling with parts and materials shortages.

This year, the industry as a whole has been able to build only 44% of its output for the same period in 1941.

Packard has done better than that, but we'd like to put in a word of caution:

It may be some time yet before you get behind the wheel of your new car.

• Don't take a chance!

Make sure your present car keeps rolling. Test your car with this easy quiz.

If you find any of these symptoms, bring your car in for a quick check-up.

Lots of cars are lasting longer and running better because our expert mechanics are trained to nip trouble before it takes hold!

WINTERIZE NOW! These days, it's doubly important to beat winter to the punch. Bring your car in early for a thorough check-up of your battery, electrical system, and cooling system—as well as pre-winter lubrication and engine tune-up. The last-minute rush will be terrific—and the first cold snap may damage hard-to-get parts!

P.S. Fenders, doors, running boards—in fact, all body parts are scarce. Don't let rust eat them away. Our protective treatment will add to your car's life, appearance and value.

Hunters Take to Woods Ready For Shooting of Small Game

Early birds this morning saw the beginning of the trek to the woods by hundreds of small game hunters. As early as 6 o'clock automobiles loaded with red garbed men rolled through the streets. The season did not open until 9 but many of the men who had been cleaning guns, oiling them and otherwise making last minute preparations for the season just simply had to get out in the woods to wait for the hour of 9. Nearly all were accompanied by dogs and from indications the opening day of 1946 should be a good one.

Recent rains have wet down the woods floor and dampened leaves and twigs so that the hunters could get through the game lands with a minimum of noise. Men who have been out in the woods scouting the game situation report that squirrels are more plentiful than usual as the feed is the best it has been in a long time and the frisky little fellows have not migrated to other parts. Ringnecks have been stocked in some sections of the county and they have stood the season well as the dry summer has added them. Some quail are in the field and pheasants too are said to be in goodly numbers.

Brer rabbit, too, is judged to be fairly plentiful despite the depredations of the multitude of foxes that have done much to wipe out thousands of the bunnies and other small game of the woods.

Relative to the opening of the hunting season an Associated Press dispatch from Harrisburg is as follows:

Harrisburg, No. 1.—(P)—Pennsylvania's small game season opened today with the game commission describing conditions as "spotty" in most sections of the state.

Seth Gordon, executive director of the commission, said the current warm weather along with a severe depletion of wild life by spring floods, was expected to reduce the kill for the 30-day season which closes Nov. 30.

"The floods killed a lot of rabbits and pheasants and in those sections of the state the hunters will probably find it tough going," Gordon said.

More than 800,000 hunters took out licenses in the state but the game commission expected that unseasonably warm weather would keep many of them out of the woods for the opening of the season.

Gordon predicted that where local weather conditions have been favorable hunters would find a considerable supply of rabbits, squirrels, ringneck pheasants, wild turkeys, quail and Hungarian partridges.

The game commission urged hunters to wear plenty of red, to keep the muzzles of their guns pointed away from human beings at all times and to observe all the other elements of safe shooting.

New hunters, Gordon emphasized, should be especially careful with their firearms and show proper respect for the rights and property of landowners.

The commission fixed 9 a. m. as start of the season on the opening day with 7 p. m. for the closing but on other days of the season hunting hours are from 7 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Dietetics and nutrition are a modern science, but the word "dietetic" is found in a nomenclature dictionary referring to a book written in 1587.

Tired, overworked kidneys let your system fill up with poisons that should be eliminated. You often have to get up at night, can't get your rest and have nagging backache. Don't delay. Get Thompson's Bor-soma Tablets at your druggists and feel better quickly. (adv.)

HEY THERE, VETERANS!

How're You Going To Vote?

For the Party That Provided

The GI Bill of Rights

or for the Party that met Veterans of World War I with machine-gun bullets and tanks when they assembled in Washington, D. C., to ask a Republican President to help them get bonuses with which to fight hunger and poverty?

Don't Get Snafued in All the Bunk the Republicans Are Putting Out. Figure It Out for Yourself. Count Up the Benefits a Democratic Administration Has Provided for You and Yours — LIST 'EM AND THINK 'EM OVER.

1,600,000 World War II Veterans are receiving monthly pension payments . . . Thousands are receiving the finest hospital and medical care . . . More than 104,000 disabled Veterans are receiving vocational training . . . $42,500,000,000 is invested in Veterans' National Service Life Insurance . . . Unemployment Compensation is guaranteed to Veterans seeking work or starting in business for themselves . . . Loans are made to Veterans going into business or purchasing farms or homes . . . More than 1,000,000 Veterans are receiving educational opportunities . . . $2,432,000,000 will be paid Veterans for Unused Furlough Time.

Did the Republican Administrations of Harding, Coolidge and Hoover Provide Anything Like That for World War I Veterans? They Did Not!

From Bullets to Ballots—Don't Waste Your Ammunition—

Vote Democratic!!

Don't let the stay-at-homes decide who will represent you in Congress. Do it yourself. Remember that it was Republicans in Congress in 1944 who struggled to deny you the right to vote in the Presidential election; that it was Republicans in the last Congress who fought for big business instead of for YOU.

Warren Price, Ration Board To End Services Next Monday

Warren's most important war-born agency, the local price and rationing board will pass out of existence on Monday, November 4, according to announcement made last night.

Glenn L. Brockway, chief clerk of the local board, told the Times-Mirror this afternoon that the official order had just been received and his office will not be open to the public on Monday or thereafter. Thirty-days' notice will officially terminate the business on December 12.

The local OPA office served thousands of people, not only in Warren, but in surrounding districts and each and every individual in the area was affected to some extent by the machinations of the office.

Glenn L. Brockway stated this morning that at the present time there are six paid employees in the office, himself, four price clerks and one rent clerk. Practically every phase of life was touched in some measure by the board which had its inception early in 1942. The headquarters of the board has been in the Warren National Bank building.

The work of the board began with the rationing of automobile tires. The workers at the board processed all of the applications during the first few weeks but later some volunteer help was given. With the rationing of gasoline the work became heavy and many volunteers aided in the registration of the applicants. The board and volunteers had just finished processing all of the registrations when a change was made in the amount of gasoline given and much of the work had to be repeated.

The registration for ration books 1, 2, 3 and 4 was done in the schools of the county with aid of the teachers and it was a gigantic task but was handled in excellent shape.

Sugar rationing was also an intense matter with a huge amount of work. In this many volunteers aided. The first registration for any food was sugar registration but it soon followed with other foods being placed on the list.

The work was carried on well and Mr. Brockway said this morning that he desired to thank all who had aided in any way in the carrying out of the orders received by the board.

Sugar and rents are now the only things left under the control of the boards and they will undoubtedly be administered from Erie in the future after the local office closes.

CAMPAIGN NEWS

DEMOCRATS

By the Associated Press

John S. Rice, Democratic candidate for governor, renewed promises last night to set up a state authority to build 25,000 homes for veterans; to pay a veterans bonus; and to set up a state G.I. bill of rights if he is elected next Tuesday.

He also said at a Democratic political rally in Reading that "I intend to revitalize our department of agriculture to make it work for the farmer as his sales agent."

U. S. Senator Joseph P. Guffey, seeking re-election on the Democratic ticket, said the Republican campaign is designed "to overthrow and root out every last vestige of the Roosevelt reforms," and charged that "millions in cash have been poured into it."

Speaking at the same Reading political rally Guffey said "a minimum of $5,000,000 is being raised to elect the Republican candidates in Pennsylvania."

In another development John U. Shroyer, unsuccessful candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination who is now supporting Rice, said in a statement released at his home in Shamokin that he regarded it "a distinct honor" to be called "a political Judas" by Mr. Harvey Taylor, Republican state chairman.

Shroyer, in his statement, repeated some of the charges he made against Taylor in the Republican primary campaign.

REPUBLICAN

By the Associated Press

Governor Martin, G. O. P. candidate for the U. S. senate seat now held by Sen. Joseph P. Guffey, said last night that dismissal of 2,000,000 federal payrollers would be "one long step" toward balancing the national budget.

"Our huge expenditures are taken from the people finally in the form of taxes," Martin said at a political rally in Norristown. William H. Chesnut, state secretary of labor and industry, in a radio address at Easton last night called for the election to congress of men "whose pledges we know will be kept."

"If we are to return to the happy, prosperous and contented people which once we were," said Chesnut, "our first quest must be for honest men to put into office."

In another campaign speech David Williams, deputy secretary of labor and industry and chairman of the G. O. P. candidates labor committee said "never were the wage earners protected against accidents upon the job" better than they were during the present administration.

Outing Club Floor Show To Please Crowds

Devotees of the Outing Club weekend parties are in for another good time over the coming weekend as the committee in charge of the entertainment has arranged a most excellent treat for the patrons. Frank Williams, who is in charge of the floor show arrangements, confided today that the show will be another of the good ones of which the club has had many of late. Four fine acts will compose the entertainment and the orchestra will have some new dance scores that should make a hit with the dancers.

The club has a reputation throughout this section for providing excellent clean entertainment with plenty of good comedy, a plentiful supply of laughs and some good music and singing.

The Moose this evening will have a masquerade party and tomorrow evening the Eagles will have a masquerade dance for members and ladies. The Vets as usual will have parties and Ben White's Town Barn will have a jolly weekend for its patrons.

This presumably killed the proposition. The United States, Britain and Greece accepted and France tentatively approved.

Harry Sundell, of Jamestown, who was with Dilley at the time of the robbery, is in the county jail awaiting sentence as he has entered a plea of guilty to the charge.

Corry and Sharon Invade Warren for Weekend Tilts

Beavers Will Tangle With The Dragons On Saturday Afternoon On Russell Field

The Dragons will bow out of regular football season Saturday, after going into their finale with the Corry Beavers on Russell Field at 2:30.

A season of bad luck has haunted the Dragons, their score being so far, two wins, one tie and six losses. However, one good break in a good share of these games would have turned it into a win for the locals. The Dragons started the season with a 33-0 win over Kane. Then came Youngsville, who fought valiantly and held the Dragons to a 14-0 score. Franklin followed with a 31-19 win over the locals and next was a win over Tusculum. A string of losses followed, a good share of them by one touchdown margins. Oil City (13-7), DuBois (20-0), Jamestown (12-6), Bradford (53-13) and Ridgeway (20-13), all pulled over on the locals. Some of them were losses that were hard to take and some that were losses that were expected (DuBois and Bradford), but regardless of expectations and hopes, the Dragons lost them.

It was a season where the team just doesn't click. It doesn't click like a winning team should. A couple of new and tricky plays were introduced as some noticed in the Ridge game. The spread play that was worked out last year still lived

ST. MARYS TO TANGLE WITH WOLVERINES

The Sheffield Wolverine grid-ers, with only 31 points scored against them in seven games thus far this season, will stack up against the St. Marys high team Saturday afternoon on the Orange and Blacks home field. The Sheffield team will take the field as the underdogs Saturday, the St. Marys eleven, having won some tough encounters this season, the last being a 13-0 whitewashing of Clearfield last Sunday.

This above statement is not a contradiction of last night's Major Hoople prediction, but a correction. A typographical error caused the score to come out St. Marys 10, Sheffield 12 in last night's issue, when it should have read St. Marys 20, Sheffield 12. It is believed that Saturday's game will have the highest total score on Sheffield's record this season, excluding the Snipeport meet, from which the Wolverines came out a 31-6 winner.

Sheffield's record this season includes wins over Youngsville (12-6), Corry (6-0), Kane (6-10), Smetport (14-6), Corry (7-0), and Johnsonburg (13-7), with only one loss, to Ridgeway (12-0). Another win tomorrow will give the Wolverines a very enviable record, making the count 7 and 1.

The Orange and Blacks have a speedy backfield with Luke Trubie shifting from quarterback, "Gundy" Stefan and George Bires running from the half slots and "Fuga" Hoden, a short but prodigious customer, will gallivant at full.

"Cook" Kasabak and Jessie Johnson will still be out of the line, as will John David Wolfe and Tom Habada be absent from the backfield this week. The first three have suffered leg injuries while Habada has had a broken arm. The Shick brothers, Chuck and Bob, will hold down opposite ends while hefty Jack Landers and Swanson will charge from tackle. Eisenhauer and Jones will probably start at guards and Rudolph will play his usual good game at center.

If Sheffield comes through with a good score this week, a game between the county teams will be almost inevitable. It is learned from good sources that plenty of good money at Sheffield will be used to back up the Wolverines, so strong is the Sheffielders' faith. St. Marys also has some ardent fans who are very interested in scheduling a tilt between the county teams. As of yet, no challenge has reached Warren officials from Coach Eisenhauer, so that is the only holdback, for it is known there will be no hesitation on the part of the Sheffield players if a chance to schedule the game comes along. The only logical holdback is the possibility of post-season injuries, which are most likely to occur in a game that will be so hotly contested.

Dusky Ledbetter Brothers Will Show Plenty Of Speed Against Jackets On Sunday

Sharon Merchants, here Sunday, to tangle with the Warren Red Jackets, have also been strengthened since the previous meeting of the two teams, according to a check of the present roster, as compared to that which was current when the Jackets dropped the 7 to 3 decision.

New players added to the Merchants' squad include Nicastro, Gunn, Lysohr, Glavin, Bruce, Yavac, Testa, Johnson and Pugnae, all former high school players from Sharon, Farrell and Brookfield, towns all noted for crack grid outfits.

Although speed is the main suit of the Sharonites the visitors also pack plenty of poundage, with Gage, a 230 pounder, at tackle, the heaviest man on the squad. Other Sharon big men in the 200 class are Grande, tackle, 210; Ford, tackle, 200; Dunn, guard, 202, with ends tipping the beams around the 180 mark.

In the backfield the speed boys, the Ledbetter brothers, are 205 and 210, respectively, while Pruitt, at full, goes 215. Leipheimer, the passing quarterback is the smallest man on the team, only 165.

Coach Ken Whisner has worked the boys pretty tough this week in preparation for another hard grind, and will have his strongest lineup in the field, with Check, Funair, Unterreiner and Bivens as

And they say I'm not guilty either of saying "No" to them when they ask for something. Proof: 4 out of 5 who ask for a loan here--get it!

"Personal" makes loans from $25 to $250 on signature alone, or on furniture or auto. Friends, relatives or employer not notified.

Usually I say "Yes" to loan requests in a hurry. But even when circumstances are unusual, I try to find a way to work out a deal. That's why "Personal" is so often able to make loans that others cannot.

Like most people, I don't believe in unnecessary borrowing... but when a loan is needed or to your advantage, I'll be glad to say "Yes." Any time you need extra cash--see me, won't you? I'm at Personal Finance Co. 216 Liberty street, second floor, over Lester Shoe Store. Phone 285.
